

Emergencies happen despite preventive measures. Recent world events have compelled organisations to identify, prepare for and competently manage potential critical incidents. Perceptions of a "foreseeable event" and "due care" among the general public and the legal & insurance professions have changed due to advances in prediction, monitoring and potential response capabilities. This has shifted more liability onto companies and organisations. Corporate reputations can suffer and penalties can result from inappropriate or inefficient reactions to actual or potential incidents, even when the initial threat was not realised.
>> For more information go to profile

However an emergency does not have to turn into a disaster, and loss from unavoidable incidents can be mitigated. Plansafe will help clients to find solutions to the following:
How do you plan to respond to an incident?
How will you protect your people?
What is your plan to mitigate the damages?
>> Contact us

Plansafe Blog
Subscribe to RSS headline updates from: Powered by FeedBurner

. Subscribe in a reader

Press Releases & News
Subscribe to RSS headline updates from: Powered by FeedBurner
. Subscribe in a reader